About Us:

Scribbled space is a journey started out with two zealous, highly creative, and experienced minds coming together with the same vision. Amisha Shah & Chaitrali Gaonkar coming from totally different parts of their worlds met through a digital agency, and the spark of mutual creativity hit instantly. Intuitively, both realized they had a keen eye for creativity and had a dream to have their own mark in the designing industry, thus they together inceptioned Scribbled Space.

Namaste!

I'm Nariyal, meaning "Coconut"
in India. A humble fruit with deep rooted cultural, spiritual, and economic significance.

I am exclusively made from discarded coconut shells that were gathered from various parts of Southern India and placed in the capable hands of skilled artisans, who crafted me into the remarkable product that I am today.

Now, as you welcome me into your home, let's continue to celebrate sustainability, craftsmanship,
and the timeless elegance of coconut-based creations.

Here's to making the world
a better place!

Working with Scribbled Space is an amazing experience so far and continuing. They are professionals and are very creative. We are doing social media design and content work from them. Their work speaks. Small brands are becoming bigger. Keeping branding concepts also with graphic designing will add a star in their work. If we look at prices also, they are friendly. There is always more scope for everyone, I wish this team good luck and my wishes are always there

Scribbled Space for me has been a very smooth and easy process. I wanted to design my logo and gave them the brief of how I wanted it to be and they delivered it perfectly and much better than what I had imagined it to be. They have been soo humble and constantly communicated with me by giving exceptional and wonderful ideas. I will definitely look forward to getting more things done

Certainly the most humble bunch of people in the business. I practically gave them an open brief and they helped me get it right before initiating the project. I believe digital assignments are all about good planning and this team is capable of delivering it with consistency.
